Miss Eola Johnson, who has been taking a course as nurse in a New York City for the last eight months, is here at work in the laundry for her brother, M. W. Johnson. She expects to continue her hospital training another autumn.

It does not seem necessary to tell the band boys that the people appreciate the open air concerts given Saturday evenings. The crowd last Saturday night again testified to the fact. It is understood that Wesley Batchelder of St. Johnsbury, a former member of the band here, will assist the boys in their open air concert this summer. Edward Earle of Newport and V. F. Owen of Cabot, excellent cornetists, played Saturday evening with the band.

The following is taken from a Morrisville paper in regard to Mr. Warner's Memorial address.

The address of the afternoon by Rev. W. A. Warner of Barton is generally conceded to have been one of the best Memorial Day efforts heard here in many years.

Mr. Warner has a most pleasing stage presence, with which is combined a rare tact in holding the attention of his hearers and a brevity of expression and changing mood which left the audience as freshly interested at the close of his address as at the beginning.

The Barton high school team scored another decided victory Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Stansfield college team on the fair ground by a score of 12 to 4. The visiting team was outclassed in every part of the game. The story is best told by the line-up as follows:

Henry E. Hull, whose illness has been mentioned in this paper, died last Monday after a sickness of four weeks. Mr. Hull moved here in February 1904 from Fairfax; and though living here so short a time he made many friends. Mr. Hull was born in Fairfax on the 26th day of October, 1836, and spent most of his life in that town. He married Mrs. Mary Jane Hunt of Fairfax on the 23rd day of August, 1869. Mr. Hull was highly regarded in his town, and held the office of constable and collector for many years. In 1886 he joined the Methodist church and was a constant attendant. He was an honest, upright man, a natural nurse who gave much time caring for the sick without compensation. He was kindhearted, generous and neighborly, a cordial, cheerful, good-natured man who had the rare faculty of making others happy about him. He was a faithful husband and affectionate father, and made many friends in the communities where he lived. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Blake, his sister, Mrs. Sophia Field of Bakersfield, and many more distant relatives and friends. The funeral was attended at his residence on Wednesday, Rev. W. C. Johnson officiating. The burial was in the village cemetery.

The operetta, "The Pixies' Triumph," given to well-filled houses in Seaver's hall both Tuesday and Friday evenings of last week by the children of the first seven grades of the graded school, was a triumph in more than one way. It was a triumph for the children, for the teachers who drilled the children and had charge of the entertainment, and for the Pixies. From the time the curtain went up the first time until it dropped for the last time the little girls seemed in the very spirit of the land of the fairies they were supposed to represent, and the Pixies aptly represented their part of the opera. Slayton Lang as the Pixie King sang and played the clarinet in a very pleasing manner, led his Pixie army into Fairyland in triumph and was seated on the throne beside the Fairy Queen, Lora Jutras. The queen showed an exceptionally clear and sweet voice and sang to the entire satisfaction of the audience. The King's pages, Amile Revoir and Isadora Depuro, caused a good deal of amusement by their low bows and close attention to their master. The Queen's maids of honor, Marjorie Wiggins, Florence Hardy and Decima Doyle, were the smallest fairies, but carried out their part well. All the other children who took special parts are to be congratulated on the manner in which they filled the bill. The military drill led by Master Clyde Cooper showed much practice and was executed in a manner befitting much older soldier boys. The fairy drills by Miss Clara Underwood were very pretty and well executed. Much credit is due Miss Annie White, director of music, and the Misses Mary Colliston and Beale Jerome, pianists, for the excellent music.

The Memorial exercises of G. W. Quimby Post passed quietly on Tuesday, Osman Dwyer commander, and E. G. Colliston officer of the day. In the forenoon the soldiers' graves in the different cemeteries under the jurisdiction of Quimby Post were decorated with flags by details from the post. At the village cemetery a large number of children participated in the ceremonies. At two o'clock the village band escorted Rev. S. G. Lewis from Hotel Barton to Seaver's hall, where he delivered the address of the day. Just before Mr. Lewis' speech, Comrade Joslyn read Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg, which is ordered read before every Post on each Memorial day. There were 16 of the 21 living comrades present at the address. Mr. Lewis gave a most interesting and appropriate address in which he emphasized the point that the day should be made in the truest sense a day for honoring our patriot dead, a time to recall the heroic deeds of those who fought to save our country. It should not be simply a holiday, a day for sports, games and hilarious entertainment, but a day of mourning. He expressed fears that the trend was in the direction of a day of patriotic celebration resembling the Fourth of July, or perhaps a time for attending places of amusement. He advocated the idea of making the whole day emphatically a Memorial day. He also suggested the idea that instead of having pre-Memorial exercises in the schools, it would be better to have the children occupy the forenoon of Memorial day in patriotic songs, speaking patriotic selections and other suitable exercises, while in the afternoon the public should listen to Memorial addresses by orators selected by the Grand Army men. Thus the whole day would be made helpful to all classes, impressing the youth with historical facts that should awaken the spirit of patriotism, and refreshing the older minds with memories of the great events which transpired when slavery was abolished. The band furnished excellent music both at the hall and during the day.

Commencement week of the academy is always a busy week and it will be no exception this year. Last evening Rev. W. A. Warner preached the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class. The service was held in the Cong. church and was a union service, the house being filled. The choir rendered the music and we would especially mention the duet "Perce to This Dwelling" by Mrs. Stannard and Mr. Wheeler and the humming response by Mrs. Batchelder as being exceptionally pretty. The sermon was full of good thoughts for the young people to take out into life with them, the text being from Luke XII-15, "For a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." The church was tastefully decorated with flowers and plants. Following is the grammar school graduating program which will be held in the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to which all are invited.

The League and prayer meeting services are cancelled for this week.

Rev. Mr. Lyman of Barton Landing will preach next Sunday morning, exchanging with the pastor.

The W. F. M. S. will meet with Mrs. E. G. Colliston on Tuesday at three o'clock p. m. It is hoped there will be a good attendance.

Miss Lavinia Dodge, representative of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, will speak at seven o'clock next Sunday evening, June 11. Miss Dodge is a very interesting speaker. An offering will be taken and credited to the auxiliary of this church.

BARTON LANDING.
Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jackson of Barton were here the past week.

Rev. S. G. Lewis gave the Memorial day address at Barton last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dean visited in Heniker, N. H., the first of last week.

Dr. E. O. Ranney, who has been very ill, is reported considerably better this morning.

The high school ball team was defeated by a Newport team at Newport Saturday by a score of 14 to 4.

A freight car jumped the track near the freight station Thursday, delaying the noon mail north nearly an hour.

Rev. J. B. Lyman tendered his resignation as pastor of the Cong. church Sunday morning, to take effect June 30th.

Rev. W. C. Johnson will occupy the pulpit of the Cong. church next Sunday morning in exchange with the pastor.

Rev. J. B. Lyman will attend the Alumni reunion of Yale Divinity School, New Haven, Conn., this week, returning Friday.

Will Lothrop has sold his meat and the good will of his customers to H. B. Smith and gone to Newport, where he enters into the same business.

Alonzo Smith was thrown from a carriage Tuesday night and badly injured. The horse became badly frightened and started to run, overturning the vehicle.

A number from here attended the play "The Pixies' Triumph," by the school children of Barton Friday night and were very much pleased with the entertainment.

Bert Dean of the firm of Dean & Mathews has sold his share of the feed business to Mr. Mathews. It has been reported that Bert was going to leave town but we hope the report is not true.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church held a supper and entertainment last Friday afternoon and evening. The supper was good, the entertainment excellent, and all were satisfied.

The Village Improvement Society will hold a rally Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the new hall. Band music, solos, addresses and exercises by the school children are on the program. Every one invited.

The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Chandler Co. will be held at the Valley House next Monday. The meeting is an important one, as the directors will take action on the proposed additions and improvements to the local factory.

Dr. E. G. Stevens received last week from the Vermont Fish Hatcheries 20,000 brook trout and placed them in the tributaries of Willoughby lake. Fishermen ought to appreciate what the doctor is doing for the cause and support him in his effort to make Willoughby lake and its streams good fishing ground.

The village was swept clean Saturday, it being the annual "Labor day," by the Ladies' Improvement Society. Each of the ladies was assigned to a particular street and had charge of clearing it up. They were assisted by men and children and when they had completed their work was not as much as a straw to mar the beauty and shock the aesthetic tastes of any one. Barton Landing is now "Spotless town."

The Minstrel entertainment, which was presented the second time May 30th, under the direction of Prof. W. B. Leonard, was greeted by a full house. Mona M. Morris impersonated the colonial girl and Ethel M. Sawyer, goddess of liberty. The inter-actors were Dora M. Padvah and Lester M. Kinsley. The last part of the program consisted of songs, golf song add dance, music on mandolin, guitar and banjo, pickaninies etc. and closed with a social dance, which was largely attended. Madame Brock's orchestra furnishing music. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Masons.

The program for the annual prize speaking of the Barton Landing high school has been completed by Principal C. F. Hall. This will be held in the opera house Tuesday June 13th. The program is as follows: "Death of Steerforth," Dickens, Florence Louise Somers; "Storming of Mission Ridge," Taylor, Robert Robinson Edson; "Jerry, the Bobbin Boy," Adapted, Dora Agnes Edson; quartet, "African Melody," the Misses Lothrop; "The Gray Champion," Hawthorne, Jesse Sumner Barrows; "Doom of Claudius and Cynthis," Thompson, Raymond Charles Kimball; "Sally Ann's Experience," Hall, Enna Mable Goss; solo, "Twas But a Dream," Tunison, Miss Lilla O. Lothrop; "Capture of Major Andre," Depew, Emery Willis Lothrop; "In Stony Cove," Thurston, Marion Frances Ordway. The ushers will be Misses Grace E. Goring, Glenn Willey, E. Gertrude Bennett, Claribel F. Sheldon and Messrs. Lyman K. Heath and Fred E. Scott.

There was a pleasant variety shower last Saturday evening when Mrs. Chandler opened her home to receive the teachers and ex-teachers who wished to show their love and esteem for one who has long been a very successful teacher in our graded school. Miss Eaton and Miss Winslow had arranged for Mrs. Bailey to spend the evening with them and she had but just entered the house when others came trooping in. A pleasant hour was spent playing games and relating school anecdotes, after which refreshments were served. The climax was finally reached when many mysterious looking packages were brought in and placed before the guest of honor and each guest read aloud a letter or original poem appropriate to the occasion as Mrs. Bailey untied the parcels containing linen, china, silver etc. Among the ex-teachers who were unable to be present but who sent remembrances were Miss Winifred Williams, Mrs. Clara Winslow, Mrs. Emma Winslow and Mrs. Tressa Dustin. A large bouquet of English hawthorn was sent for the occasion by Mrs. and Miss Gallup of Brattleboro.

The weather on Memorial day was just what any one would have ordered had they had charge of the "winds and clouds," and Barton Landing was favored with a large gathering of people from surrounding towns. An excellent open air concert was given in the morning by the "young band." At ten o'clock a procession formed and marched to the Maple street cemetery, where the graves of the fallen heroes were decorated and details were sent to the hill cemetery where soldiers' graves were also strewn with flowers. At noon all comrades were served dinner at their hall by the W. R. C. At the new opera hall in the afternoon were held the exercises of the day. The band furnished music, there was speaking by local talent and the speech by E. A. Cook of Newport. In his talk Mr. Cook urged upon the people the fact that Memorial day should be made a day sacred to the memories of fallen heroes and not a gala day. The base ball game in the afternoon between the town team and the Newport town team resulted in a hard earned victory for Newport by a score of 8 to 5. In the morning the Newport grammar school team was defeated by the local grammar school, 12 to 7.
